Going back to my roots
Heather McKinlay in search of family roots and food on the Hebridean island of Tiree. It's a strange feeling when you have never been somewhere bef...

Lewis and Harris Food Trail
Last week I ventured to the isles of Harris and Lewis for the first time. I had a fab time exploring all the sites. I also bought my first piece of...

Two Red Men
Antony Gormley is well known for his large scale public art – the Angel of the North being the most famous. It's therefore a real privi...

Seeing Shetland Differently
A couple of weeks ago I was lucky enough to visit Shetland for the first time for my familiarisation trip. Having never travelled as far north befo...
